Q. M. CLERKS ARE ASKED TO SEND IN STATEMENTS

A cablegram from the War Department requesting the quartermaster's office to send a list of names of quartermaster clerks employed in the local office, who will be eligible for allowances for house-rent, light, and fuel under the field clerk's amendment to the army appropriation bill, signed Tuesday by President Wilson, was received Wednesday at army headquarters.

There are nine clerks in the local quartermaster's office who are eligible for the allowances, which mean about $24 a month for each man in addition to his regular salary. The amendment, which was inserted in the army appropriation bill and passed, provides that 200 field clerks of the quartermaster corps will become army field clerks, and as such entitled to allowances, after 12 years of service, three of which have been outside the continental limits of the United States. Today's cable requests sworn statements as to their terms and conditions of service to be obtained from the eligible clerks, who are George O'Connor, Richard Bolton, D. D. Fish, A. M. McMullen, F. B. Buckley, J. A. Kelling, C. J. de Roe, E. McPhetridge and G. H. Rice.

DIAMOND KEKONA IS WINNING DISTINCTION

Diamond Kekona, former Honolulu boy now at the front with the English in France, has been picked out of 350 men to man a new machine gun and has been encouraged by his commanding officer to go in for stripes because of his alertness, according to a censored letter received in the Wilhelms by his father Dick (Diamond) Kekona, at the police station, from Mrs. Amy Kekona.

Mrs. Kekona predicts that the next time she sees her Hawaiian husband when he comes on leave of absence to England, he will be a lance corporal or corporal, and declares in her letter that the son will carry the name of Kekona to a commission if it costs his life.

The letter was 54 days in reaching Honolulu.

The mother of Hussein Kemal, Sultan of Egypt, is dead.

HOUSTON NAMED NAVAL MILITIA INSPECTOR HERE

Commander of St. Louis Made Inspector-Instructor of Hawaii Organization

The Naval Militia of Hawaii now has an instructor-inspector, Lieut. Cmdr. Victor S. Houston, commanding officer of the U. S. first-class cruiser St. Louis, stationed permanently at Pearl Harbor, has been appointed to that office by the bureau of navigation, in addition to his present duties.

The order detailing Cmdr. Houston as inspector-instructor gives him permission to detail officers under his command to assist him. News of the appointment was confirmed today by Naval Militia headquarters.

In connection with the Naval Militia's cruise next month, a letter received this week from the division of naval militia affairs, Washington, says that no target-practice will be held during the cruise. This probably is due to the fact that the citizen-sailors will be so busy learning seamanship that they will not have time or opportunity for shooting.

The division also informs the adjutant-general that it must be informed prior to the start of the cruise September 14 aboard the St. Louis, how many officers and men of the Naval Militia of Hawaii will participate. It is of the greatest importance that members of the organization who intend to go notify their employers well in advance and obtain permission to go on the cruise, which will be of two weeks' duration, and will take in the Civic Convention and Hawaii County Fair at Hilo.

In connection with the coming cruise the division of naval militia affairs has made the following comment on the Naval Militia of Hawaii: "While this organization is comparatively new, it is believed that they will and can develop into an efficient organization, and the department hopes that all efforts will be made toward preliminary instruction and training of this organization."

A communication received by Capt. George R. The craft will probably be shipped here aboard a naval collier.
